Warm Greetings to all!

Dear Parent,

I am an educator. I can create a safe, stimulating, learning environment for your child. I can encourage and support your child through the learning process. I can teach your child how to think logically and creatively. I can effectively teach your child the required curriculum. I can challenge your child's intellect.

I can identify your child's academic strengths and weaknesses. I can strengthen the weakness and build upon the strengths. I can develop a trusting, respectful relationship with your child. I can attempt to build a productive parent / teacher relationship. I can create a positive educational experience for your child. Your child will leave the school with necessary knowledge to be well prepared for the education road ahead.

BUT I CAN'T DO IT ALONE.

I am not the parent. I can't guarantee your child gets an adequate night's rest and a healthy diet. I can't make sure your child is on time to school and only misses classes where absolutely necessary. I can't prioritize education in the home.

I can't provide your child with a literature – rich home environment. I can't limit the time your child spends playing with electronics or surfing through social media. I can't instill value of an education on your child like you can. I can't follow through with consequences when you are contacted about discipline issues that are imparting your child's learning. I can't force you to attend conferences to discuss how can we work together to maximize your child's potential. I can't demonstrate to your child that you and I are a team operating together in the child's best interest.

Frankly, without your cooperation, I am fighting an uphill battle in my fervent attempt to educate your child. Please understand and appreciate the enormous role that you play in creating a successful educational outcome for your child.
