

SANGHAMITRA SCHOOL

Dear Parents,

14.06.2022

Welcome to the academic year 2022-2023. The process of learning and teaching has been changing from online to offline, that changed the way students understood and grasped knowledge. Learning gaps were identified during offline classes.

In order to address these gaps and to enhance the child's social and emotional growth, motor skills and cognitive development a pedagogical approach is identified where children become active participants in learning. They learn through experiential activities which help to reinforce knowledge, decision making skills, personal skills, communication skills and good values.

Parents must interact with children as the lessons are being taught and find out if they are facing any challenges in understanding. This feedback must be shared with the teachers or Heads of Department. This will help to address issues at the earliest and avoid long term challenges. This is important as it affects student's confidence and self-esteem.

Please feel free to contact the Head of the Departments through the Almanac or personally in school for queries or suggestions. Together let us work towards a positive learning experience.
