

FIRST IAS OFFICER FROM SANGHAMITRA

WE take pride in sharing that out of the 1077 students who graduated in various fields of Arts and Sciences after finishing class X here at Sanghamitra, RakeshCh, the 2001 batch student, has secured the rank 122 in the 2015 Indian Administrative Service ((IAS) examination.

Being inquisitive by nature, he was always found with his head immersed in reading something. He was greatly inspired by his grandfather, a retired Headmaster in going for the Civil Services.

Rakesh graduated from CBIT as an Engineer and worked with Infosys for two years before he went to Delhi to realise his dream. He was selected for the post of an ITO, Income Tax Officer while he was aspiring for the Civil Services. He also stepped into the field of learning when he taught the other IAS aspirants.

The one thing that Rakesh found interesting was the fact that he had to keep himself thorough with the topics covered in the NCERT books of class VI to XII, as a foundation for the preliminary round before preparing with the specialised material.

As he fondly reminisced his memories, Rakesh stated that it is the values and principles he had learnt at school, helped him realize his goal untethered. The firm yet kind way of interaction, the teachers follow at Sanghamitra, has not changed in the years. We wish him to be successful in all his endeavours.
