About Us

The online learning and teaching revolution has started. It is generating excitement about the potential for a broad and ubiquitous access to classroom education. Countries with a vision to embrace this change are bound to march forward. Generation Z isn't a one that looks to be restricted to four walls for education. Their search and quest for knowledge will be a continuous one. We, the Radius Edutech are a Co-op of educationists and technocrats with several decades of collective experience in the education space and introducing technologies to make education accessible. We have dedicated ourselves to building solutions for distributing and hosting classroom education via this platform - <http://classroom.radiusedutech.com>.
